

To whom it may concern,

To me, being a young maker, Dansmakers has been very important for me and my development during this year. The place has such a big network and provides beautiful opportunities for young professional artists that it was very fruitful for me to work and develop myself to bring art to the city. This all would be lost if the place has to close. Already the support for the professional dance scene in Amsterdam is becoming smaller quickly, this would mean another big loss for the city and the dance scene worldwide. I hope that my letter speaks to you and I hope you can do something.

Sincerely,
She An Verstegen
